

3 Ben's fortune

Narrator: When you're sixteen, Ben, you'll meet a really nice girl. You'll go to parties with her every weekend ... oh no, that's wrong ... let me see ... no, you and Louise, that's her name, no, wait, it's Paula, not Louise ... the two of you will work hard at school and you'll do a lot of sport. You'll run a race every month and ... oh no, wait ... forget about the running. You won't go running at all, you'll go for walks in the park.

You're a football fan and at the weekend you'll both go and watch Tottenham play.

After school, you'll become a doctor. You'll live in a nice house, but not in London. I can't see this very well, but I think you'll live by the sea, not too far away from London.

You'll marry and have three children, two girls and a boy. Your kids' favourite sport will be football.

You'll have a big car and you'll take your family to wonderful places around Britain. You won't be famous, but you'll have lots of friends. One of your friends is an astronaut, and he'll take you and your family for a holiday on the moon. You'll be the first British family to travel to the moon.

When you're older, you'll move to Nottingham and live in Sherwood Forest, with two dogs, four cats, twenty-two chickens and eight ducks. You will be fantastic grandparents and you'll have eight wonderful grandchildren. They'll come and visit you often and help you to take care of the animals.
