

1 Jamie goes on holiday

- Host: Welcome to another afternoon programme of Young People's Lives and I'm your host, Steven Scott. As it is only three weeks to go before all the kids in Britain start their summer holidays, I'd like to know about your holiday plans – where you are going and what do you want to do. With me in the studio today are Jamie and Oliver. What are your plans, Jamie?
- Jamie: We haven't made any plans yet. My dad can't go on holiday this summer because he's got to work. My mum, my two sisters and I can't agree where to go. My mum and Zoe, my youngest sister, would like to visit our grandma in Wales. She lives in the middle of nowhere, in a tiny little village. They want to go hiking and do some climbing up Mount Snowdo. I hate hiking, and I don't like spending my holidays in a village. Don't get me wrong. I really love my grandma; she's cool and makes the best cakes ever, but I would like to do something more exciting than going to Wales. I want to go to a big city, like Liverpool or London. You know, I've only been to London twice, and I've never been to Liverpool. People say that Liverpool is a really exciting city, with some fantastic buildings and a really fantastic museum about ships and what life was like on the ships in the old days. That's what I'm interested in. But mum says that visiting London or Liverpool in the summer is too expensive, and the hotels are full. But dad said that perhaps we can go in October for a weekend.
- Host: And what about your other sister?
- Jamie: Becky is a football player. She plays really well. She trains four times a week and she goes running every morning before school. Her idea of a great holiday is going to Manchester to an international football camp. There will be three hours of football training in the morning and another three hours in the afternoon.
- Host: But that camp isn't for you, is it?
- Jamie: No, I want to relax and then see new things.
- Host: But at the camp you could meet some new people and make some new friends.
- Jamie: That's true. Perhaps Becky and I will go to the camp together. Then Zoe and my mum could go to Wales and go hiking. And Manchester is also an interesting city. I haven't been there yet, but, now, when I really think about it, maybe going to the football camp is a good idea. I'm sure there'll be a stadium tour at Manchester United Football Club and a tour of the city.
- Host: Well Jamie, I can see that you have decided. So let's talk to our second guest. Oliver, ...
