

1 Brendon's rainy holidays

- Tom: Hi, I'm Tom. Welcome to our programme Summer Holiday Reports. Today, I will talk to Brendon about his really interesting holiday in Scotland. Welcome, Brendon.
Now, why did you go to Scotland?
- Brendon: Well, I didn't want to go to Scotland. I usually like warm and sunny places, like Italy or Spain. There you can lie in the sun, play football on the beach or go windsurfing. I enjoy places with good weather. Not rain. But my parents like Scotland, so we went there.
- Tom: And how was it?
- Brendon: Well, it was rainy and cold, really cold. It rained every day!
- Tom: So what did you do?
- Brendon: We went camping, and I slept in a tent, together with my little brother. The tent was too small for the two of us. But the worst thing was that it rained all the time.
- Tom: Doesn't sound like a relaxing holiday. Now Brendon: did you do anything interesting?
- Brendon: Oh yes, we did. It was not all bad. In the last week I went fishing. But there were no fish so we didn't catch anything. Not one little fish. And it was very windy so our fishing boat went up and down in the water. I didn't feel good at all!
- Tom: Oh dear!
- Brendon: Yeah, and that wasn't all. I even lost my sunglasses. What a day!
- Tom: I'm really sorry about that. Was there anything good about your holidays then?
- Brendon: Well, yeah... I met this boy from Scotland, Alister. He was really nice. He likes sports, like me. So we went to the beach and played football – in the rain! But it was fun. Alister also showed me how to windsurf. It was difficult because it was very windy. But Alister is very good at it and he is a good teacher. After three days I really enjoyed it.
- Tom: So your holiday was not that bad then?
- Brendon: No, it wasn't. The last week with Alister was quite good. He is going to visit me in London in September. Then I can show him London and he can meet all my friends.
- Tom: Sounds like fun. It was nice talking to you. Bye Brendon, have a nice day.
