

Birthdays

Hello everybody, welcome to another round of “animal birthdays”. Today we are reporting from London Zoo. Did you know that the oldest penguin’s birthday is on the first of January? And the baby lion’s birthday is on the twentieth of June? The little one will then be one year old. How sweet. So, what else? The three little zebras have their birthdays on the fourth of November, the eighteenth of February and ... let me see ... the tenth of August. Now, tomorrow is a great day, because it’s Carla’s birthday. She is the biggest elephant in the zoo. So the 28th of April is elephant day. Why don’t you go to the zoo and pay Carla a visit and wish her a happy birthday. She will turn fifty-six, so she really is an old lady.

Now for the two crocodiles. Their birthday is on the same day, well, and that’s next week ... right, here we are. Monday, the third of May ... oh no, sorry. It’s not the third, it’s the second of May. And that’s a Tuesday of course.

Anyway I just wonder what they do at a crocodile birthday party ... Bye for now, see you next week.
