Hi, I'm Kate: I want to go to a big city and I really want to do some sightseeing. I would love to see Buckingham Palace and the Tower. I would like to do some shopping in my favourite department store. You see I need to go to London in England. But of course there are other things we could do. After London we could spend some days at the beach in Brighton or go to Cornwall. On our way there we could go and visit Stonehenge, you know, the famous stone circle. Of course we could visit Bath with its famous Roman Bath or Manchester with the famous Museum ...

Hi, I'm William: I would like to go to Northern Ireland. You know, next to the big city of Belfast is the beach where they make lots of films. For example Game of Thrones. And of course I would like to visit the Titanic Museum. The Titanic was actually built in Belfast. And last but not least you all know that my favourite drink is whisky. So we could visit a place where whisky is made. We can walk along the coast and visit the Giant's Causeway. And don't forget our friend Alister. He has this wonderful holiday cottage in ...

Hi, I'm Ivy: I am really interested in early industrial work. So I suggest we travel to Wales. We can visit a coal mine or we can look at some stunning castles. I really want to do some walking in the Snowdonia National Park and of course we could climb Mount Snowdon and have a stunning view from the top. I'm also interested in the Welsh language. I can't even pronounce the words, there are so many consonants in them. And then there is Cardiff, the capital of Wales. A big city with a castle, a harbour and shopping ...

Hi, I'm Amy: Now Scotland has everything you want. There are lovely beaches and stunning Lochs. One has even got a monster in it. And beautiful castles and cities. Edinburgh is the capital of Scotland and is built all around a very big castle which is in the heart of the city centre. Glasgow is full of shops, and there are very famous tea-rooms designed by the extraordinary artist Macintosh. We can climb Ben Nevis, Britain's highest Mountain. We could all dress in Scottish skirts, you know kilts ...
